

RCRL Rules, What's New in 2019-20?

We have a few changes mainly to simplify and clarify the rules, and include longstanding interpretations which may not have been clear in the written document in the past. Here are the highlights, however, the complete rules should always be referenced.

- The B2 and B3 divisions have been merged for this year and will play on Friday. The merged division will be using rules formerly applied to the B2 division and will be called B2.
- No player may play in more than one Masters division this year. Mid Masters players are no longer allowed to play in two Masters divisions as this was a temporary allowance to help establish the Mid Masters division.
- Mid Masters players who are rated 3.7 or above at the time they roster must play Court 1 or court 2.
- Board meetings will now begin at 5:00 instead of 5:15.
- Rules regarding Masters III were added and retained although there were not enough teams to form this division for 2019-20. We will offer this division as an option again next year.
- Recent college players, younger than 26, who played at a Division I, II or NAIA college will be rated a minimum of 4.5 and must play in the A division.
- No roster fees will be refunded after the first match of the League year for that division or one month after her initial rostering if she rostered after league play began.
- The USTA Code was added as Appendix C, as it is referenced in the rules.
